

If you have a fever of 100.4°F (38°C)
or higher:

1. Call your cancer doctor right away.
2. If no one calls you back after 20 minutes, go to the nearest ED (emergency department).
3. Show this card to the ED staff as soon as you arrive. Tell them you have a fever and are getting chemo for cancer. * See other side Fever Alert: Attention ED Staff!

I am getting chemotherapy at University Hospitals Seidman Cancer Center. I have a fever and need immediate treatment.
